

The Case for Christian Freedoms

800 Years since Magna Carta

CONFERENCE 2015

The Case for Christian Freedoms

800 Years since Magna Carta

Since Magna Carta was sealed under oath by King John on 15th June 1215, it has been foundational for the preservation of liberty and the rights of the individual against the tyrannical exercise of power by the State.

democracy
limitation of power
equality and freedom under law
freedom of speech
freedom of belief

Increasingly, in the 21st century, these freedoms seem under threat. Why and how? Are they genuine rights, or merely a social construct in process of change? Do they matter, and what can we do to defend our human rights – especially the rights to freedom of belief and speech?

To find out, come to our conference on Thursday, 12th March 2015

Speakers, amongst others, include leading Public International lawyer and expert on human rights and torture, Professor Malcolm Evans OBE; leading Philosopher, Professor Roger Trigg; and Bishop Michael Nazir Ali, former Bishop of Rochester, and now President of the Oxford Centre for Training, Research, Advocacy and Dialogue (OXTRAD)

WHERE: The Emmanuel Centre, Marsham St, London SW1P 3DW

WHEN: Thursday, 12th March, 2015

TIME: 10.00 am to 5.00 pm

COST: Earlybird Booking £20 (until January 25th 2015)

Regular Booking £25 (from January 26th 2015)

Register online at www.vfjuk.org.uk